Young Scholar Paper Competition 2017

About JOES

The Journal of Ocean Engineering and Science is an international journal focusing on original research and the latest developments in the field of ocean science and technology.

Competition

JOES is pleased to invite submissions for the 2017 “Young Scholar Paper Competition”, whose purpose is to promote knowledge sharing among young scholars in the field of ocean science and technology and foster new connections and authors for JOES. The awards seek to recognize the dedication and commitment of young scholars to advancing the progress of ocean engineering and science. The best young scholar paper award has been a feature of JOES since 2015.

Eligibility

※ Each paper must be original material or analysis and must be the author’s own work. Previously published papers are not eligible.
※ Doctoral candidate, or any individual who received his/her first doctorate no more than five(5) years prior to March 15, 2017 is eligible.
※ Co-authorship is acceptable provided that the young scholar applicant is the primary author.

Awards

※ The first-place winner is honoured with a $1000 cash prize; second-place, $500.
※ The winners will also have their works published in JOES.
